VINEYARDS+WINERIES

Want to see the rows of vines where the grape varieties are grown? The list below shows local companies that welcome the public to view where their product and brand is developed. These businesses combine the vineyard or property where the growing of ingredients takes place along with the winery, where the production process of wine occurs. Most of these locations offer tours, tastings and sometimes food on-site. Call or check the website prior to your visit to ask about hours of operation and special event closures.

Texas is one of the oldest wine growing states in the US with vines planted here more than a hundred years before they were planted in California or Virginia.

Texas is home to over 42 members of the Vitis grape vine family with fifteen being native to the state.

Some of the earliest recorded Texas wines were produced by Spanish missionaries in the 1650s near El Paso.

Texas ranked as the fifth largest wine producing state by 2019.

WINERIES

A winery is a business involved in the production of wine. Besides wine-making equipment, larger wineries may also feature warehouses, bottling lines, laboratories, and large expanses of tanks known as tank farms. The process involves the fermentation of fruit, as well as blending and aging of the juice by a one or more employed in-house wine makers. The grapes may be from vineyards owned by the winery or may be brought in from other locations. Most of these locations offer tastings and sometimes food. Call or check the website prior to your visit to ask about hours of operation.
